

February 2019 Newsletter

Construction of the City of Bloomington's Penn-American Linear Stormwater Storage project is over half finished. If you haven't already, please sign up for project update emails and track project progress at the project's website: www.BloomingtonPennAmerican.com

Project Update

Utility and street paving work concluded on Knox Ave and American Blvd at the end of November 2018. Some concrete sidewalk and signal work will be complete in late April 2019. Crews finished the installation of 12-foot diameter culvert along 82nd Street, and have continued box culvert work between Morgan Circle and Knox Ave.

Upcoming Work: Morgan Circle and Red Lobster Area

Crews will continue box culvert installation between Morgan Circle and Knox Ave. This work is anticipated to last until early March. Please note that access to Red Lobster will be maintained during this work.

Beginning in March, work will begin on the east half of Morgan Circle. This work includes installing new sanitary and storm sewer, curb, and pavement. The east half of Morgan Circle will be closed during this work, which will take about a month. The west side of Morgan Circle will remain open during this work, but using alternate routes will be easier to access businesses (see access map on the back of this newsletter).

The W 81st ½ St and Morgan Circle intersection is anticipated to be closed beginning in late March/early April (weather permitting) for up to a week. Businesses and the public will be notified of the specific closure date before intersection work begins. The best way to access businesses near Morgan Circle during construction will be alternate routes highlighted in the access map.

Please note that the Morgan Circle area may temporarily remain a gravel surface until weather allows for paving.
